Celebrating Strengths on Children's Day

The Kalyani School commemorated the Birth Anniversary of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, in a very unique style, by celebrating the strengths of the Kalyaniites. The students were asked to identify any one quality in them-selves that they are really proud of; that make them what they are. Then, they created badges, displaying these strengths, and wore them through-out the day. This endeavor, not only made them reflect on their métier, but also gave them a feeling of pleasure and pride to have others acknowledge their strength too. It was a heartwarming scene to see the children ascertain their qualities of kindness, empathy, sincerity, diligence and sportsmanship. It was a singularly distinctive way of making the day special for the children and to motivate them to believe in the goodness in themselves; and to trust that they can make a difference in the future world, as was the dream of Pandit Nehru, whose birthday is so lovingly observed as Children's Day. The children were given a wonderful treat by the CCA teachers and Coordinators, who designed a very entertaining programme, for their students. Through a fusion dance, music and some hilarious skits, they saw how their teachers had more to offer than only studies and home work.

ELT Workshop

Soma Ma'am and Sahana Ma'am attended the ELT Workshop, organized by Orient Black Swan, on 18th Nov, 2017. It was held at The Orbett Hotel, Pune. Resource person, Dr. Deepesh Chandrasekharan, conducted a very interesting and engaging session, about what English teaching of the 21st century is and what it should be. He pointed out that as Indians, we use English as a second language. Dr. Deepesh suggested that teachers should motivate children to express themselves unrestrainedly, and accuracy will automatically follow. Dr. Deepesh gave some valuable inputs to be used while teaching the students reading and writing skills. He stressed on the use of CODER (collect, organise, draft, edit and rewrite), when a child is asked to write any creative assignment.

This is a good way to think and express in an orderly and comprehensive manner. Later, Ms. Smita, the representative of the Black Swan Publication House, walked the teachers through their new sets of text books, for CBSE and ICSE schools. The workshop was a very interesting one, and there were a lot of takeaways for all the attendees, who went back with very rich insights.

Educators' Round Table Workshop

A workshop for Educators, was held at Kaveri College of Arts, Science and Commerce on 18th of Nov. It was attended by the TKS Facilitators, Ms. Poonam Mishra and Ms. Shweta Sambyal, along with our students Tanupriya Mudaliar and Shaurya Gupta and their parents. The workshop was conducted by Dr. Mohanan and Dr. Tara Mohanan, who emphasized the need for a Better World which is not possible without Better Education. The syllabus should be one that fosters independent thinking in the students and the teachers, while teaching must focus on the purpose of teaching. Apart from that, education should undoubtedly integrate values. It was stressed upon the teachers, to generate an attitude of enquiry in the children, and to give them questions that are open ended to let them arrive at their respective conclusions. Towards the end, various groups were formed, and were asked to say which aspect of the syllabus they would like to work upon. The workshop gave the teachers and students motivation to put in their best in teaching and learning.

'Poetry and Creative Writing' - A Workshop

On 17th of November, 2017 Niloufer Ma'am attended a workshop on Poetry and Creative Writing', at Hotel Sagar Plaza, Pune. The event was hosted by Ratnasagar Publications. Ms. Varsha and Ms. Parveen were the facilitators for about 150 teacher participants from all over schools in Pune. They asked the teachers to reflect on the fact that if teachers don't spend time in reading poetry, they can't expect students to appreciate it either. They need to be role models for their students. They were then educated about different forms of poetry with beautiful examples, and it was amazing to find, that a poem can be as short as half a letter. The sessions were conducted in an interactive manner, and the mentors ensured every one was actively involved in the tasks given to them. The participants wrote a few poems individually, as well as in groups which were presented in front of all, and this gave them a sense of accomplishment. Overall the workshop was quite an enriching and inspiring experience as the understanding about poetry and creative writing was raised to higher level.

More Honours for TKS

On Saturday, November 25, 2017, the Times Group organized the Times Education Icons 2017, an award ceremony to recognize the work of various schools under different categories. The event was held at the esteemed Hyatt Regency, attended by several schools across Pune. The Kalyani School was also part of the ceremony, represented by Ms. Batul Lamba, Academic Coordinator. It was an honour to be presented with The Emerging Schools – East Zone Category Award, for the work that the school has been doing in the field of education for the past years since, its inception. That evening also saw TKS being felicitated as a leading school that works with a dedicated and sincere effort, in the field of education, at a function organized by 'Brighter Minds'.

Form Morning- Grades V and VI

On 11th November, Grades V and VI presented their Form Morning. The topic of the event was "The Government Inspector". Throughout the enactment the various problems related to corruption were high-lighted. Children were made aware about this social issue, which affects our daily lines. Several dance and musical performances, along with the drama, made the presentation very entertaining. The programme was attended and enjoyed by parents in large numbers. The School Report was presented by Principal Ma'am, highlighting the achievements of the students, in the present academic year. The audience enjoyed the event and the performance was a huge success.
